

- [2] D. Devins, S. Johnson, J. Sutherland, Employer characteristics and employee training outcomes in UK SMEs: a multivariate analysis," Journal of Small Business and Enterprise Development, Vol. 11, pp.449-457, 2010.
- [3] R. Katz,, "Skills of an effective administrator", The Harvard Bussiness Review, 1991
- [4] D. A. Samson, R. L Daft, Management, Southbank, Vic. Thomson, 2003
- [5] M. Simpson, N. Tuck, S. Bellamy, Small business success factors: the role of education and training, Education + Training, Vo. 46, No. 8/9, pp.481-491, 2004.
- [6] I. Wahyudi, Integrated Accompaniment Program: Alternative Solutions of Non capital constraint for SMEs , Analisa newspaper, Desember 2008

BIOGRAPHY

Yati Rohayati is currently Senior Lecurer in Industrial Engineering Department at Telkom University, Bandung, Indonesia. She earned Bachelor and Master Degree from Bandung Institute of Technology, PhD in Marketing from University of Indonesia, Depok. She has taught courses in Marketing Management, Quality Management, Marketing Reearch, Integrated Marketing and Communication, and Customer Relationship Management. Her research interests include service quality, product development, marketing, and MSMEs. She is a member IIE and Mastel.

Sari Wulandari is currently a fulltime lecturer in Industrial Engineering at Telkom University. Ms.Wulandari holds a Bachelor of Engineering degree in Industrial Engineering from Telkom University and a Master of Engineering degree in Engineering and Industrial Management from Bandung Institute of Technology. She has taught courses in marketing management system, engineering economics, and marketing research for engineers. Her research interests include branding strategy, service quality, product development, marketing management, and feasibility study.