

His research areas are in service management, supply chain management, pricing and revenue management, operations/marketing/financial interface management. He has published in Manufacturing & Service Operations Management, IIE Transactions, etc.

Xiaoqiang Cai received his PhD in Systems Engineering from Tsinghua University in 1988. He is currently Associate Vice President and Presidential Chair Professor of The Chinese University of Hong Kong, Shenzhen, China. His research interests are mainly in operations research and management, and logistics and supply chain management science. He has published over 200 papers in academic journals, books, and conferences, including more than 100 papers in leading journals (such as Operations Research, Management Science, Naval Research Logistics, Production and Operations Management, IIE Transactions, IEEE Transactions, and Transportation Research). He is a Fellow of the Hong Kong Institute of Engineers, and an Academician of the International Academy for Systems and Cybernetic Sciences.

Xiaowo Tang received his PhD degree in Automatic Control Theory and Applications from Chongqing University in 1994. His research areas are in management science and engineering, investment science, and quantitative economics. He has conducted a number of major projects, and published extensively, in these areas. He was Vice President of University of Electronic Science and Technology of China (UESTC), Chengdu, China, and is presently Professor of the School of Management and Economics UESTC.