

Internalization of Local Wisdom of Huma Betang's Philosophy in Realizing Pancasila Student Profiles

Liberti Natalia Hiaa, Eliana Sarib, Rugaiyah

Doctor of Education Management Program Students, State University of Jakarta, Indonesia libertinatalia@gmail.com, elianasari@unj.ac.id, rugaiyahfitri@gmail.com

ABSTRACT

The multicultural Indonesian society has many potential conflicts that can disrupt unity and integrity, so Pancasila is the answer. Besides being the basis of the state, Pancasila is also a view of life, the soul and personality of the nation, the ideals and goals of the nation, a philosophy of life that unites the nation which needs to be interpreted wisely and wisely, both by the government and all components of society. The local wisdom of the Dayak Kalimantan is based on the Huma Betang (long house) philosophy, which is a philosophy that maintains unity. Unity and harmony for the people of Central Kalimantan. Huma Betang (long house) is a typical building of the ancient Dayak community inhabited by hundreds of heads of families with different beliefs. The method used in this research is literature research. in-depth information and data through various literatures, books, notes, magazines, other references. Huma Betang's philosophy can realize the Pancasila Student Profile which is the oldest mandate from the President of the Republic of Indonesia in the Minister of Education and Culture Regulation No. 20 of 2018 concerning the determination of the Pancasila student profile.

Keywords

Pancasila, Education, Student, Culture