

Raffles Chrisostomus is an Industrial Engineering undergraduate student from Universitas Indonesia and is currently active as a laboratory assistant at Systems Engineering, Modeling, and Simulation Laboratory, Universitas Indonesia. His research interests are system improvement, strength sports, and optimization.

Djoko Nurprawito is currently employed at PT. Pertamina Geothermal Energy and now studying as a Ph.D. student in the Department of Industrial Engineering, Faculty of Engineering, University of Indonesia. He is experienced in the field of logistics and distribution in the Geothermal and Oil & Gas industries. He has an undergraduate degree in Mechanical Engineering from Trisakti University and MBA degree from Oklahoma City University.